son Square Garden being packed with spec-tators from basement to roof was witnessed. In spite of the fact that for two days it had been a long time between spurts the people intinued willing to pay the admission and sit and wait in the hope of seeing a spurt, or something unusual. This patience of the public is being taken by the racing me and promoters of race meets to be proof that the public thinks it great sport when a sprint does happen, and they consider the interest manifested as an evidence that this sport needs only better management summer time to be better patronized.

The crowd began to arrive at about 8 o'clock

ast night, and by 10 o'clock there were no seats vacant and a couple of thousand were standing The attendance has been a record break-The pace was faster throughout the early evening than on the third day, and it freshened up oftener. Keegan and Moran kept making a try for that one lap they forfeited under the rules when they patched up a team on Monday. These sprints were shortlived as a rule, but after they were over the pace was not so slow as on Wednesday. A bit of sport a rule, but after they were over the pace was not so slow as on Wednesday. A bit of sport was furnished at 9:30 o'clock when Dove releved Hedspeth and gained a lap after a lively sprint in which the leaders chased him for nearly a mile before slowing up and letting him have the unimportant gain. In the scurry Samson and Franz Krebs each lost a lap. Exhibition riding was replaced by some real racing at intervals last night, the six day contest ceasing while the shorter competitions were run. One of the events was an unlimited pursuit race between W. S. Fenn and George Schreiber, which was won by Fenn after he had ridden one mile and one lap in 2 minutes 12 3-5 seconds, a good piece of riding, that was appreciated. A match race, best two in three heats, between Galvin and Bardgett, who started as partners in the long grind, was run, perhaps in order to let the public see how Galvin had recovered. Bardgett won the first heat at half a mile. Exhibition rides were made by Kramer, Jimmy Michael and Margaret Gast.

Between the heats of the Galvin-Bardgett race, Frank Kramer rode an unpaced half mile with a flying start to lower the record of 54 seconds, and he succeeded in doing it in 53 2-5 seconds. Bardgett won the second heat, at one mile, also.

The stiffest sprint of any that had previously been seen since the race began, in which a team came nearer to capturing that precious, coveted lead of a lap and which wound up with a sgeneral spill of six riders, began at 5:40 c'clock in the evening yesterday. It lasted about ten minutes. It began because Peterson and Floyd Krebs set out deliberately to gain a lap when Peterson was being relieved by Krebs. Peterson was being relieved by Krebs. Peterson was boing relieved by Krebs. Peterson was boing relieved by Krebs. Peterson was boing relieved by Krebs. Peterson and got them stationed at the trackside. The relieving of partners was done with bewildering frequency. But ler relieved Walthour—and here Munroe's poor condition was shown, for he could not hold the pace, and Wa

That was only the beginning of the sport.
The riders were just getting bunched and Butler had returned in place of Leander, when Jimmy Moran saw a chance and jumped away.
He got a good start and kept gaining for awhile. He was faster than Krebs had been,
and the shifting of team mates began again,
more widly than before.

All this time a crowd of about five thousand persons stood up and shrieked like lunatics. Only the most experienced and expert observer could tell what was happening in the confusion of shifting team mates, but all could see the lone rider out in front, speeding along like a lean fox, while behind the pack of eleven hounded
after him with their wheels "giving tongue" to an angry buzz.

after him with their wheels "giving tongue" to an angry buzz.

Slowly, but steadily, Moran gained, until he was a full three-quarters of a lap ahead. As he turned into the straight he could see the others leaving it. It seemed certain that he would gain the lap. Then Leander came out again and went to the front of the pack. The chase was longer than that after Krebs, but steadily the big Chicagoan wore down the lead of the fugitive, the rest of the string following him, excepting Dove and Franz Krebs. They kept losing lap after lap, but no one paid any attention to these tail end teams. Sampson also lost a lap and was another half a lap behind when Vanderstuyft relieved him and closed the gap. In all, Franz Krebs and Dove lost nearly two miles each.

iteams. Sampson also lost a lap and was another half a lap behind when Vandersturft releved him and closed the gap. In all. Franz Krebs and Dove lost nearly two miles each.

Leander led the string until Moran was caught, and the riders were bunching along the home stretch, when Johnny Fisher found some one crowding him. Fisher pushed the man away and fell as he did so. Then But er, Munroe, Dorlon, Contenet and Jacobson wentdown in a heap. No one was injured beyond a shaking up.

Except for the loss of a few laps by the negro team and by Gougoltz and Franz Krebs, this sprint caused the first change of the fourth day. The losing of laps by these two pairs is now, however, beling accepted as a matter of course. Neither team has a ghost of a chance to win prize money, and they are staying simply to get the consolation purse given to those who finish outside the prize list. In justice to Gougoltz, it must be said that he is behaving like a hero. He does not lose any of the laps that his team falls behind. His partner is responsible for that. "Perseverance" Gougoltz keeps right up with the leaders when he is on the track. He has won many admirers and has received a couple of huge bouquets which he carried prouch for awhile as he rode.

While the big sprint of the early evening brought out the fact that both Munroe and Dorlon are not riding as strongly as they were, it was also a revelation concerning the superb form of John Bedell. He had been on the track for three and a half hours before the sprint began, and although his brother-partner was brought to the trackside and their trainer wanted to make a shift, John insisted on riding it out. He was the only man in the race who was not relieved in this terribe sufferings, dope, raving madness and attempted poisonings is being harvested, the riders are in pretty fair condition, and according to experienced trainers who can read the sum one of the hard was been dead to the seas a possible of the hard was bendaged all day. HARD COURT TENNIS MATCH. Joshua Crane Befeats T. Suffern Tailer in Contest at Tuxedo.

TUXEDO PARE, N. Y., Dec. 10 .- The second annual amateur court tennis championship tournament of the United States for the gold racquet, under the management of the Tux-tournament of the United States for the gold racquet, under the management of the Tuxed Tennis and Racquet Club, opened here this morning. The chief interest of the day centred in the match between Joshua Crane, the amateur champion of the United States, and T. Suffern Tailer, champion of the Tuxed Club. Mr. Crane has been considered for the last three or four years as in a class by himself and has easily beaten all comers. Therefore the great fight that the local champion put up against him to-day was very creditable, and was received by the audience with hearty applause.

In the first set to-day there were many long and brilliant rallies, and most of the games were deuce and vantage. Mr. Crane's service was terrifio. The play became close and exciting, and there seemed very little to choose between the form of the players. In the third set Mr. Tailer played all around Mr. Crane, forcing and playing for the grille with deadly accuracy. In the fourth and last set the games reached 5—all, Mr. Tailer still playing strongly and Mr. Crane playing anxiously, but at this critical period all the luck of the game seemed to go in the amateur champion's favor. The crucial point, which would have made the games 6-all and would have probably decided the set and possibly the match in Mr. Tailer's favor, was decided by mistake in favor of Mr. Crane, but the local player generously refused to appeal.

Following are the summaries:

BASEBALL MAGNATES ADJOURN

LEAGUE AGAIN ACCUSED OF SHOW-ING WHITE FEATHER.

wound up their meeting at the Victoria Hotel yesterday afternoon, and then attended a banquet given by C. H. Ebbets of the Brooklyn club last night. After they adjourned they announced that James A. Hart of Chicago had been selected a committee of one to act in conjunction with similar committees from the American League and National Association of Minor Leagues, with the idea of bringing the California League under the protection of the National agreement.

At present California is "outlaw" territory, and ball players in the American and National leagues have been known to influence their employers by threatening to jump to the Coast. If the committee can bring the recalcitrant league into line the ball player will be securely handcuffed to whatever contract his club may see fit to offer him.

No action by the National League in recent years has created so much adverse com-ment as the decision to lengthen the schedule ment as the decision to lengthen the schedule to one of 154 games, thereby eliminating the world's championship series and intercity games with the American League. For one thing, such a schedule is so long it tires the public. Again it is regarded as a deliberate crawl and is the second time the older body has acknowledged the supremacy of Ban Johnson's organization. Several ball players who were at the hotel yesterday declared that it was an unfair piece of business to deprive the champions of the two leagues to play for big gate money at the end of the season and that next season the players would have to work harder than ever for their salaries. A young man, affiliated with the Pittsburg club, said: "If Pittsburg should win the pennant again next year, we will be willing to play for the world's championship

President Hart of Chicago said that, of course, the natural inference was that games with the American League had been avoided, but as a matter of fact the National League had made the move solely because of business. Hart said to THE SUN man:

"If we kept up these games there would be no such thing as peace in baseball. They caused too much ill feeling and, barring the Boston-Pitsburg series, there was very little money in them. The players received big salaries to operate the teams through the regular playing season, and, to my way of thinking, were not entitled to anything more. In view of everything and the heavy salar

Are the magnates already jealous of Herrmann, or do they fear him? Which? Many baseball sharps were asking these questions around the hotel last night, where there was a rumor that there had been open friction between Herrmann and John T. Brush. Incidentally it may be said that Messrs. Herrmann, Fleischmann and George B. Cox, who purchased the Cincinnati club from Brush for $140,000, have been asking themselves recently what they got for their money, a fact that may throw some light on the open breach that exists between the Cincinnati and New York clubs. But just why Robison of St. Louis and Hart of Chicago did not even speak to Brush all through the meeting just closed cannot be ascertained.

And yet reports have been industriously circulated that the magnates are an extremely happy family. THE Six, however, can quote a club president to the effect that the majority of clubs are in favor of a twelve club circuit, necessitating a combination with the American League, the New York club being the chief obstacle. This particular magnate, who is an organizer and a baseball diplomat, said to TRE Six man late on Wednesday night:

"Stick a pin in the statement that the two leagues will eventually come together. Just how it will be done nobody knows just now. That is shown by the way the different clubs are talking. But personally I favor a circuit of sixteen clubs, embracing all of the clubs in both leagues. When you get all these elements into one room to conduct business then it an easy matter to gradually weed out the dead wood.

"You cannot put it too strong that more than half of the National League clubs today regret that the twelve club circuit was ever cut down to eight clubs. If we had remained as we were there would never have been an American League. Two clubs cannot live in one city, because the interest is divided. If one club wins it makes big money while if the other loses there is a heavy deficiency. When his dif

a Four-Team Tournament to B Played in Brooklyn.

HOCKEY LEAGUE TROUBLES.

The troubles in the Amateur Hockey League are still far from settled. The four players who resigned from the New York Athletic Club team and then joined the St. Nicholas team have caused all the trouble because the managers of the St. Nicholas rink tried to dictate to the players and these four refused to be governed by that rink. The St. Nicholas club has decided that it will not allow Howard to play with that club, and Clarke, Carruthers and Hornfeck declare they will stick by Howard, and if he cannot play they will not play.

There was a meeting of the executive committee of the league yesterday, and the matter is to be referred to the league at a meeting to-morrow afternoon. As things stand at present the outlook for championship hockey this winter is not at all promising. If the players hold out it will be impossible to have five teams in the league. At present the only clubs with full teams are the Crescent A. C. and the Hockey Club. If the league decides to give up the championship tournament it is possible that the Crescent, Hockey Club, St. Nicholas and Brooklyn teams will be reorganized and these four play a tournament in Clermont Avenue Rink. With the players that are now here four good teams could be made up, and they would furnish fine sport in the winter.

There is to be hockey at the St. Louis fair, and a team is to be made up of the players here and sent to St. Louis. There has been some talk, too, of a team being sent to Canada and challenging for the Stanley cup, which is now held by the Montreal team.

The New York University gymnastic team opened its season yesterday with an exhibition before a large and enthusiastic audience at Trinity School. The team performed its various feats of skill and strength in first class style for its first public exhibition of the season. All of last year's team, with the exclass style for its first public exhibition of the senson. All of last year's team, with the exception of Braydon, took part and gave evidence of some good work this season. Belcher, Capt. Peck and De Zafra, all point winners in the intercollegiates last year, showed that they were fully up to last year's standards, if not better.

Manager A. E. Stevenson, '04, has arranged the following schedule:
Dec. 18, annual exhibition at University Heights; Jan. 16, quadruple exhibition with Princeton, Pennsylvania and Haverford, at Haverford, March 4, dual contest with Pennsylvania, at University Heights; 18, dual contest with Princeton, at University Heights; 26, intercollegiete contest, at Princeton.

Army and Navy to Meet on the Diamond. ANNAPOLIS, Md., Dec. 10 .- It is now considered a certainty at the Naval Academy that the annual baseball game between West Point and Annapolis will be played next spring, the contest to be played at Annapolis, spring, the contest to be played at Annapolis, on May 14. The Naval Academy athletic authorities base their belief in the West Point game that all matters relative to eligibility, which is the main contention between the two academies, are to be arbitrated and future games and all athletic contests to be played on the terms thus agreed on. Manager Eberle of the Annapolis nine has also arranged a very extensive schedule. Games are arranged with Harvard, Pennsylvania, Brown, Cornell, Syracuse, the Seventh Regiment and others. Another interesting feature for next season will be the visit of the Harvard baseball squad, which will again use the Annapolis grounds for spring practice. They will be here from April 17 to 21.

The police of the West 125th street station have recently received complaints from the tenants of an apartment house at 217 West 121st street that a child in the apartments of Mrs. Jennie Fenemore, on the ground floor, was sadly neglected. Detective Drastal was sent to investigate vesterday afternoon and found the door leading to Mrs. Fenemore's flat locked. He questioned the janitress, who said that Mrs. enemore was seldom at home and that her child was left alone in the flat. The detective got a ladder and, going to one heavily played choice won. Mose Goldblatt, the owner of Rainland, said to-day that he would start the son of Rainbow in the Preliminary Derby on Saturday. Rainland is asked to carry 123 pounds and will be ridden by the stable jockey. Crawford. Tom Anderson, a local politician, attempted to pull off a killing with Free Admission in the fifth race. Anderson expected to get as good as 50 to 1, and wired money all over the country. The books made Free Admission favorite, and he was beaten in a hard drive by a head and half a length for first honors, finishing third. The race was won by Birdwood, a 15 to 1 shot. There was a lot of rough riding in this race and Jockey Minder was called into the stand by the stewards.

While the field was at the post for the handicap, Harlem Lane kicked Duelist several times and practically put him out of business.

The starting to-day was very good, and Mr. he rear of the house, broke open a window and climbed into the kitchen. In an inner room he found an eighteen months old baby girl lying on a bed. The rooms were unclean and everything appeared in dis-

CHESTER, Pa., Dec. 10.—Frank Nichols, a bartender, known as the "Bowery Kid," who is wanted as the star witness at the McMahon murder trial in New York, was sent for the child and he told the police to look for the Fenemore woman's husband, who, he said, was an ex-convict, at present wanted by both the society and the police. The child's condition was such that it was to Bellevue Hospital. The doctors there say it is suffering from neglect and the finding the child inquired of the janitress. When told of the detective's visit she went to the station house, where Capt.

Mrs. Fenemore said she was suing her husband for a divorce and that this cher representation has been defended in this city this afternooh and will be held for the New York authorities. He sawy he is sick and has been drinking heavily. It is alleged that he saw the murder.

CODY, WYO., PUTS ON STYLE. Neckless Gowns and One Opera Hat Figure In Col. Cody's Report.

"The spirit of the effete East has got to the foothills of the Rockies and is climbing up," said Col. William F. Cody, who got up," said Col. William F. Cody, who got to the Hoffman House last night from his Wyoming ranches. "When I reached the town of Cody, Wyo., they gave me a din-ner and so help me I had to look twice to see if the ladies had anything on beyond see if the ladies had anything on beyond ropes of pearls and so forth. And one man wore an opera hat. True, "said the Colonel, reflectively, "he didn't wear it long, but that's the sage brush liquor."

Col. Cody will sail for Europe on April 1 to reopen the Buffalo Bill Show.

Mayor Defends Bridge Opening. Mayor Low made this statement yester-

At Oakland.

San Francisco, Dec. 10.—Iridius, a colt in the Jennings stable, won the seven furiong haadleap which was the feature of the programme at the Oakland track to-day. He was a strongly played favorite and after Bragg stopped he took the lead and won easily from John A. Scott, the second choice. The Mighty ran a game race in the two-year-old event, and won by a nose from Judge, the favorite.

First Race—Futurity course—Jennie Hughes, 104 (Connell), 5 to 1, won. Bee Rosewater, 104 (Hildebrand), 8 to 1, second; Elfin King, 107 (J. Sheehan), 8 to 1, third. Time, 1104). Pat Morrissey, Skip Mc, Lurane, Jilliouon, Autumn Time, Titus, Byronerdale and Moana also ran. Puredale was left at the post, from certain directions to discredit the celebration of the opening of the Williamsburg bridge and the work already done on the bridge and the work already done on the bridge is in the nature of fair criticism, for the reason that the Williamsburg bridge is much farther advanced toward completion than was the Brooklyn Bridge when it was opened. When this bridge was opened the promenade was unfinished, while in the case of the Williamsburg bridge the south roadways are finished and the roadways on the north would have been completed but for the fact that the necessary material for the laying of the floors could not be brought to the city because of the freezing over of the Eric Canal earlier than usual.

Mr. Low said that he had not personally suggested the opening of the bridge dur-Instrument also ran. Bombardier was left at the post.

Third Race—Futurity course—Sainty, 112 (J. Martin), 3 to 1, won: Saille Goodwin, 106 (Buxton), 6 to 1, second; Matt Hogan, 112 (Bullman), 5 to 1, third. Time, 1:10½ Little Margaret. Father Wentker, Pickaway, Egyptian Princess, Rasp and My Surprise also ran.

Fourth Race—Seven furlöngs—Iridius, 110 (J. Martin), 3 to 2, won; John A. Scott, 109 (Bullman), 3 to 1, second; Flush of Gold, 102 (Birkenruth), 15 to 1, third. Time, 1:20½, Yellow Tail, Geheimness, Bragg and Play Bail also ran.

Fifth Race—Six furlongs—Dainty, 65 (R. Coleman), 6 to 1, won: Burnle Bunton, 76 (Knapp. 2 to 1, second; Claude, 80 (W. Daly), 3 to 1, third. Time, 1:12½, Warte Nicht and Bunmer also ran.

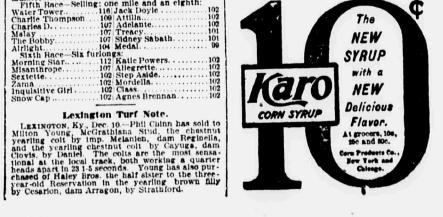

Sixth Race—One mile—Grall, 104 (Chandler), 9 to 5, won: Lacy Crawford, 96 (J. Booker), 8 to 5, second; Gorgalete, 100 (Foley), third. Time, 1:40¾, Bill Massie, Achilles, Boutonniere, David S., and Esforzado also ran. suggested the opening of the bridge dur-ing his term of office.

Ex-Mayor Grace Much Better. Ex-Mayor William R Grace, who has been critically ill with pneumonia, was reported yesterday to be very much better. He ate a rather hearty meal of sweetbreads and game. The members of his family said that he was quite out of danger. Dr. E. L. Keyes, Jr., one of his physicians, said that the ex-Mayor's condition continued actionatory. satisfactory.
